RECEIVED: The paper was presented by the President

NOTED:

- a) Realistically PG courses cannot be run for £6k.
- b) The President has spoken to the Chief Finance Officer and he is investigating a career development hybrid loan which is a positive option.
 - i. These would be owned by the bank and set at a level that covers the fees.
 - ii. It was highlighted that there would need to be an element of maintenance included in the loan for the student to support themselves.
- c) It was suggested that Council should support the use of Doctoral Training Centres to fund PGT courses. This has been implemented by college is to allow people to pay to do the MRes year of the 1+3 years MRes+Phd Programme which is fully paid as a PhD by the Research Councils including all expenses.
- d) It was pointed that there could arise issues with PG experience when you mix the two groups who ultimately have to do the same MRes course, where one group is fully paid to be there and the other which is paying a lot to be there. Which may lead to perceived inequality.

- e) It was agreed that point 4a should be added to lobby College to work with banks to ensure the loan also covers maintenance.
- f) Council moved to a vote on passing the amended paper and it was passed unanimously.

 - ii. The Felix Editor has negotiated £1000 in additional advertising revenue and is still in negotiation with other clients.
 - iii. The Felix Editor acknowledged that he got behind in invoicing.
- c) Felix's overall position looks as though they will break even.
- d) The Felix Editor last year was also tardy in his invoicing.
- e) It has been suggested that centrally the responsibility of advertising should be held with the central union.
 - i. The Felix Editor stated that this option is not out of the question but a decent editor will not let the club get in to this position and advertising is a good part of the editorial role.
 - ii. It was suggested that Felix should just be an online publication however this was quickly dismissed by the current editor.
 - iii. Centralising the advertising would ensure that Felix will always be printed as the Union would hold the risk if revenue isn't assured.
 - iv. A very comprehensive Memorandum of Understanding would be drawn up to protect Felix and the Union.
 - v. Editorial Independence is imperative within the whole process.
 - vi. The role of Editor is demanding enough and it has been proven that invoicing hasn't been done properly over the years so invoicing should be centralised.
- f) The President stated that currently Felix is in a position of relatively stability.

 - i. The Deputy President (Welfare) stated that she will investigate this.

ACTION:

- 1. The Deputy President (Welfare) to investigate what advise students are given in the event that they have an minor incident in the lab that requires attention.

- i) Less funding has been received from the NHS as the numbers of registered patients has dropped.
 - i. Potentially students are not registering as they are in outlying halls and outside of the catchment area which then prohibits them from registering.
 - ii. The number of registered patients has measured 4 times a year and if after the next assessment, numbers increase, the funding level will be reassessed.
- j) It was suggested that legally GP's must treat anyone person in the catchment area which is potentially a condition of the planning permission. The Deputy President (Welfare) stated she will look in to this.

ACTION:

2. The Deputy President (Welfare) to investigate if the Health Centre legally must treat any person in the catchment area.

- k) PG's have been targeted arbitrarily.
- l) It was suggested that it is part of the planning permission of the College being in the area to provide a Health Centre.

 - i. In Thomas opinion, he gained a lot from the experience.
- d) IC start-up is looking at putting in financial support for students.
- e) There is a balance between unpaid internship verses work experience.
- f) It was suggested that there could be a fund set up to allow students to undertake unpaid internships and still be able to cover their cost of living whilst doing it.
- g) It was suggested that the Union should be focusing on students who want to study rather than help get in to unpaid internships.
- h) It was suggested that the Union should be lobbying industry to offer paid internships.
- i) College could offer free accommodation to students during the summer whilst they undertake their unpaid internship.
- j) It was suggested that the Union should include 'start up' companies as acceptable for students to undertake unpaid internships.

- k) The ethos of some large companies is to use students for free labour as the student should be fortunate to have that experience and the Union should have the stance that this is not an acceptable attitude.
- l) Ultimately opportunities offered to students should equal access to all.
- m) The Deputy President (Welfare) stated that she will compile the feedback and bring back a policy to the next council.

ACTION:

Imperial College Management Board's Response to the Union Council's Five Requests

A note by the Union President – Paul Beaumont

On Friday 22 February 2013 the Union received the College Management Board's response to the Union President's paper.

The Union President would like to thank the College Management Board for their response.

The response is below in full, but, relating specifically to the Union's Five Requests:

1. Retain Garden Hall as a Hall of Residence in the College Space Master plan.

- ✓ Full studies will be undertaken at Garden Hall to evaluate costs of refurbishments and continuing use as halls of residence
- ✓ Students will be consulted on the outcomes of these surveys and plans before a final decision is made

2. Continue to seek out alternative, superior solutions to Evelyn Garden's ending lease than the North Acton project.

- ✓ The College will continue to search for further reasonably priced accommodation as close to our campuses as practical.
- ✓ Full studies will be undertaken at Evelyn Gardens to evaluate costs of refurbishments and continuing use as halls of residence
- ✓ Students will be consulted on the outcomes of these surveys and plans before a final decision is made
- ✓ Plans that involved keeping Evelyn Gardens would mean the College would undertake negotiations over its lease, which, as commercially sensitive would not be possible to consult on widely

3. Review the whole Accommodation Strategy given the discrepancies between the Accommodation Survey 2011 data, the Strategy's interpretation of that data and the backlash from students over the results of that Strategy.

- ✓ The College has accepted there is a demand for cheaper, non-high specification accommodation close to campus: it 'is committed to providing a range of accommodation options at a variety of prices, which reflect quality and location'.

4. Hold formal consultation with students and academics on North Acton and on all future projects before committing to a development – whether they be accommodation related or otherwise.

- ✓ Although not mentioned in the response, a formal consultation procedure is being worked on with the Vice Provost (Education) by the President and Deputy Presidents Education & Welfare

5. Don't reduce Wardening ratios any further; and retain Wardens as College staff who undertake the role alongside their College careers.

- ✓ College accepts the value of wardening, and notes that a receptionist at W3 is not intended to 'detract from the pastoral care associated with wardening'

There is much work yet to be done though: the Union needs to continue to push on all of these points to ensure the student voice, and opinions – as published in our quantitative data and qualitative responses received - aren't ignored.

Proposed beliefs & resolves:

- The Union should contribute positively to the development of space at W3; whoever does live there (irrespective of Evelyn Gardens and Garden Hall) the social space should be suited to students' needs as far as possible.
 - Action the President to liaise with the COO and engage on consultation to come up with appropriate plans the Union is satisfied with.
- The Union should agree a formal consultation procedure with the College.

- Action the President, Deputy President (Education) and Deputy President (Welfare) to bring this to Council for approval as soon as possible.
- The Union should feed into all focus groups, surveys and should encourage the student body to do the same.
- The Union should continue to hold the five beliefs agreed and detailed above.
- To seek clarification:
 - That the College being 'committed to providing a range of accommodation options at a variety of prices, which reflect quality and location' does mean that this is the College accepting that there is demand for cheaper halls, close to College that might not be the highest specification possible.
 - That the commercially sensitive negotiations will include the Union President as a member of College Council.
 - On a timescale for the refurbishment of Garden Hall, and any consultations surrounding said refurbishment.
- To reiterate to College that bursaries are a different matter and go only a small way to helping students: many students (international students, for instance) aren't eligible for bursaries, and it's not only the poorest students that a closure of Evelyn Gardens would affect.

Response from the Management Board of Imperial College London
To the note by the Union President on behalf of the Imperial College Union Council (22 February 2013)

The current position

The provision of suitable and affordable accommodation for Imperial students is a high priority for the College. It is committed to providing a range of accommodation options at a variety of prices, which reflect quality and location.

Imperial's guarantee of a place in halls for all first year students is better than most London universities that it is made irrespective of home location. Our provision of generous bursaries to home students makes a major contribution to those who most need help.

This academic year Imperial is investing £23 million in renewing Wilson House, and this will provide 127 more bed spaces just across Hyde Park from the South Kensington Campus. With the assistance of the Union, the College is aiming to offer 22 more bed spaces in Beit Hall in the next couple of years.

Garden Hall needs refurbishment and therefore will not be offered to students in 2013-14.

Evelyn Gardens cannot be offered forever in its present condition.

What the College is now planning to do

The College will continue to search for further reasonably priced accommodation as close to our campuses as practical.

The College will carefully weigh up all the options for future uses of Garden Hall, Evelyn Gardens and Pembridge Hall. These options will include continuing use as accommodation after any necessary refurbishment, recognising the benefits of maximising spaces close to College, but will include alternative options which could have substantial other benefits to College overall. Pembridge Hall does not need early refurbishment, but with only 96 bedspaces is currently well below the size at which it would be efficient to operate in the medium term and so a study will be undertaken to test the feasibility of extending the property to increase the number of bed spaces provided.

For Garden Hall and Evelyn Gardens it will be necessary to undertake full structural survey of the properties to provide a comprehensive understanding of the level of remedial work required and its associated cost, and this cannot happen before students have left at the end of Summer Term 2013. After the results of these surveys are known in the autumn, the Management Board will evaluate the options and consult with students on the overall proposals by the end of 2013, before the College reaches a final decision.

Some aspects of the proposals may be commercially sensitive and therefore have to be restricted in circulation, for example because the College will need to negotiate with third parties on the way ahead.

W3 and Wardening

The College has signed a contract for the development of W3. Over the coming two years, as the development and construction of W3 takes place, students, wardens and other staff with pastoral care responsibilities will be invited to guide plans for the services and facilities required to make it an attractive, supportive and sociable environment.

The wardening system is an essential part of the Imperial student experience, and is especially important for those living away from home for the first time. The College will provide wardening at W3 as it does at other halls, and does not yet have a firm plan for the number of wardens at W3. In addition it is intended to provide a 24/7 receptionist service at W3, which will provide practical support for students, although this is not intended in any way to detract from the pastoral care associated with wardening.

Charging for Accommodation

In terms of setting charges for undergraduate accommodation pricing, the College does not make a profit overall. Nor does it reflect the high property values of some Halls in accommodation charges. Future charges will inevitably need to reflect the costs of maintaining the buildings in an acceptable condition.

Imperial College Union
Response to the Education & Student Strategy Green Paper

1. Imperial College Union is happy to confirm that the Union Council broadly agree with the proposed actions.
2. In response to how we “would like to be involved” – it is integrally, at every level of the discussion and decision making.
3. We would like to thank the College in involving the Union and our academic representatives at various points within the process.
4. There is nothing in the paper that the Union disagrees with, but:
 - a. We would prefer if in MOOC (Massive Open Online Course) discussions the strategy outlined that we wish for a MOOC that plays to Imperial’s strengths, and as was discussed at the e-learning workshop on 26 February focusses on bridging the divide between research and teaching.
 - b. We are particularly glad Hall Wardening is mentioned in the strategy and look forward to a commitment for this being retained at its current levels (Wardens and Sub-Wardens per student).
 - c. We are keen to ensure that a review of PGT (Postgraduate Taught) courses won’t lead to a cut in choice, or options for students.
 - d. Would wholeheartedly support a growth of the Centres for Doctoral Training, particularly in the midst of rising PGT fees.
 - e. We were a little disappointed that the Union – and its activities - wasn’t featured more in the strategy regarding providing an ‘enriching student experience’.
 - f. We would like to see a College commitment to prompt, detailed and consistent feedback. As this is an area in which Imperial consistently performs appallingly in the National Student Survey.
 - g. We are upset that bridging the undergraduate and postgraduate communities and the role UROPs (Undergraduate Research Opportunity Placement) play in this was not discussed.
5. To help achieve some of the points outlined:
 - a. The Union would suggest the College use the ICU Bursary Survey results to determine how more can “be done to effectively promote the generous financial support” packages available.
 - b. The Union has undertaken 3 months of research into Accreditation schemes that are designed to work with the College.
 - c. The Union is keen to lead on developing the co-ordination of volunteering opportunities.
6. Whilst in broad agreement with everything as written, the Union can’t commit to agreeing any further at this stage without seeing more detailed plans. The Union is looking forward to further iterations of the paper with increased detail, focusing on changes that are being proposed to make a more complete strategy.

Postgraduate Taught Fees

A note by the Union President – Paul Beaumont

Background

1. The National Union of Students (NUS) has published and is campaigning for a new postgraduate taught (PGT) funding model.
2. This model proposes institutions have their PGT student numbers capped and a maximum fee of £6,000 imposed in order to make a sustainable financial model on which to offer support (for Home & EU students). Within this model students cannot take the £6,000 loan and pay the difference in tuition fees, if the fee is higher than £6,000.
3. The NUS is encouraging member unions to campaign to their MPs on this model.
4. There is no maintenance element to their model, just the tuition fees.
5. Partly by virtue of being a STEM institution, very few of the current PGT courses offered by Imperial are charged at less than £6,000 (and prices set for next year are more in the £7,000 and more region - <http://www3.imperial.ac.uk/studentfinance/2013-14tuitionfees#PGT>).
6. The College has increased prices for 2013-14 intakes from the 2012-13 intake prices for Home & EU students, with (smaller) increases in already very high fees for International students.
7. In 2015 the first students on £9,000 undergraduate fees will be starting PGT courses. There is a worry that – since these students have been paying £9,000 for three years – there will be a ‘perception of value’ problem with a degree that costs less than £9,000pa, but at the same time there is the ‘not overcharging unnecessarily’ argument.
8. Career Development Loans are the main way of funding PGT courses currently, though the NUS is opposed to these due to them being offered to only certain institutions, and there is the problem that someone with a CDL is required to repay the loan regardless of whether they have a job or not upon graduating.
9. Career Development Loans do have higher interest rates than the NUS proposed loans.
10. The College currently does not have a ‘policy’ or official plan on what its PGT fees strategy is – giving the Union a brilliant opportunity to input into the development of such a plan, though I did meet with the College’s Chief Financial Officer to discuss plans going forward.

Suggested Beliefs

1. There is a serious problem with regards to PGT fees on the horizon, and a solution needs to be found.
2. The NUS proposal would not work for Imperial College Union
 - a. By virtue of the courses being STEM, and we would rather not have underfunded courses
 - b. Because we don’t believe in capping an institution’s intake in this manner to limit student’s choice of their first choice university.
3. That to provide other sources of ‘PGT courses’ (or equivalents), Imperial College London should:
 - a. Continue to bid for Doctoral Training Centre place funding as part of funded Postgraduate Research (PGR) courses, and should use this as a method of funding PGT courses as much as possible. This should be possible at institution like Imperial that is able to attract research funding relatively easily.
 - b. Introduce integrated masters undergraduate courses in departments currently without them (Life Sciences, for instance)

Though we accept that this will not solve the problem, it will at least alleviate it.

4. That Career Development Loans with fairer payment terms that require payment once a graduate is in employment are a fair way to fund a PGT course.
 - a. This could be achieved through a 'hybrid' agreement with the College and (a) bank(s), where by the College to some extent was able to delay loan repayments for a year so that students could find employment upon graduating.
 - b. The loan offered must also have an element to cover maintenance during study.
5. We would prefer CDLs with a lower interest rate, closer to that as proposed in the NUS model.
 - a. This may be achievable with the College's backing, as the College is currently able to borrow at a much lower rate than students, due to the minute chance of defaulting. By a College-bank relationship there may be possibilities of preferential rates for students.
6. That in the balance of 'perception of value' versus 'not overcharging unnecessarily' the latter should always win out; Imperial College's reputation is strong enough to defeat the perception of value issue. Pricing some students 'out of the market' will only be detrimental to the quality of PGR intakes in future years.

Suggested Resolves

1. To lobby our local MPs and BIS (Business, Innovation and Skills) on points 1, 2 and 4.
2. To lobby the College on points 3, 4 and 5.
3. To work with the College on Background point 10 to develop a policy for PGT Fees going forward.

Imperial College Union's Stance on Withdrawal of Postgraduate Health Care Facilities
A paper by the Deputy President (Welfare) Becky Lane

Background

Students may register with the Imperial College Health Centre if they live within a list of 20 postcodes as set out by the health centre. However, historically the Health Centre has agreed to let any Imperial College student 'Join' which means despite the fact they are not registered, they can use all services during opening hours (no provision of out-of-hours care). This service can be provided because College also gives money to the Health Centre and therefore capitations received from the NHS due to registrations are not the only source of income. From the 1st March, the Health Centre decided not to see Postgraduate students living outside of the registration area due to a lack of funding.

Current Situation

The Health Centre continues to let Undergraduate students and Postgraduate students from the Royal College of Music (who do not live in the registration area) access full services by joining and staff members have access to some emergency services. Therefore it is just Imperial College Postgraduate Students living outside of the registration area who are affected by this change. Below is the message displayed on the Health Centre website:

'Please note that from the 1st March 2013, postgraduate students living outside the Health Centre's registration area will no longer be able to use the Health Centre or any of its services.

Unfortunately there is no NHS funding for such students and in the past the funding came from Imperial College.

However this year there is a shortfall in this funding, which the College has advised us it is unable to make up.

Therefore, for the foreseeable future, all postgraduate students who are not eligible to register at the Health

Centre under the NHS are advised to register with GPs local to their accommodation and will have to access all their health care needs from them.'

This information was communicated to Postgrads by placing it on the internet, handing out slips when Postgraduates no longer able to use the service tried to use the Health Centre and written in a Graduate School email. When the Union informed all Postgraduate students via email, over 200 responses were received, the vast majority expressing anger and dissatisfaction with the situation. After speaking to the Dean of Students, it was clarified that the Health Centre did not have a decrease in funding from the previous year; in fact there was a small increase. The reduced funds are actually due to a decrease in the amount of students choosing to register with the Health Centre. I have been informed that College are hoping that the Health Centre will reverse the decision soon.

Beliefs

1. Imperial College and Imperial College Union are unhappy with the decision to remove all services offered by the Health Centre for Postgraduates living outside of the registration area.
2. The welfare implications of Postgraduate students have not been fully considered when making this decision.
3. The levels and methods of communication upon implementation of the change were inadequate and left Postgraduate students in need of urgent care in a vulnerable position.

Resolves

1. To work with College staff to lobby the Health Centre to change their policy on seeing Postgraduates outside the registration area.
2. To examine the current memorandum of understanding between Imperial College and the Health Centre to consider lobbying for further change, including a revision of how future changes are communicated to the student body both in methodology and timeliness"
